PARIS, (AP)—Senator Arthur Vandenberg said Wednesday night that the foreign ministers' council had agreed on the Trieste and Italian colonial issues.

PARIS, (AP)—Possibility that a 21-power peace conference might be convened here in a matter of weeks was forecast Wednesday amid indications that the foreign ministers' council was near agreement on all important phases of the Italian peace treaty.

Chief point still to be resolved by the ministers was the question of how the city of Trieste should be administered under a French proposal for internationalization of the disputed port—a proposal on which the council agreed in principle Tuesday.

There was widespread belief that this issue would not prove too difficult.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was quoted by a British spokesman as saying after Tuesday's council meeting that the four powers had come so close to settling the Trieste problem that a few more talks should produce a concrete proposal which would be taken before a peace conference.

The meeting Tuesday ended with Britain and the United States holding out for United Nations supervision of an internationalized Trieste while Russia and France favored placing the administration under the Big Four.

TRISTE, (AP)—British and American troops and Venetian police took possession of Communist party headquarters in the strongly leftist San Giacomo district of Trieste Wednesday.

British troops mounted on armored cars and Bren gun carriers maintained a ring of steel around the city.

Both the San Giacomo district and the nearby area of the city were quiet earlier this week.

Workers called a week Monday because of rioting, but some workers returned to work Tuesday, but port operations remained at a standstill. Two persons were killed and 40 injured in the riots.

Russians Plan New Move
Atomic Commission Rules

NEW YORK, (AP)—The United Nations atomic energy commission waited expectantly Wednesday for Soviet Russia's next move in a campaign to make a two-thirds majority vote of the commission necessary for adoption of any recommendations on atomic control.

The members of the 12-power commission, meeting Wednesday expected Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko to give a statement in which he would announce the Russian member of the rules committee has held out unsuccessfully for the persistence of the Russian effort to increase the minimum majority requirement by a single vote.

Before Wednesday's public meeting some members were puzzled over the persistence of the Russian effort to increase the minimum majority requirement by a single vote.

Since all recommendations of the commission will be passed on to the United Nations, the Russian action is in no case final, and under the present rules, the Russian effort to increase the minimum majority requirement by a single vote is not final.

Budget Favors Large Salaries

OTTAWA, (CP)—The new budget, which was tabled Tuesday, has been hailed by opposition members, studying Finance Minister's latest peace time budget, have just learned that under the plan allowances for wives and dependent children, greater benefit goes to taxpayers in the high income brackets than to those on lower incomes.

No Big Stocks Of Wheat In U.K.

LONDON, (Reuters)—Britain has no stocks of wheat in the stores of some great reserve store of wheat in the world, according to the British government, which said the common wheat.

The only stocks available are those of the United States, which the food minister said is an open debate on food. The Conservative opposition is seeking information on the government's decision to start bread rationing July 21.

Mr. Strachey said a short answer to opposition questions was that "we are rationing bread because we are short of wheat."

He said the postponement of a decision on food rationing would be "a grave mistake on the part of the government and on the course of things in the congress for the next few weeks."

Rock Miners In B.C. Strike

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Some 2,500 British Columbia hardrock miners went on strike Wednesday morning in a 40-hour week, a 29-cent-an-hour wage increase was demanded. It was expected the federal labor department would announce some form of mediator in the dispute.

The Weather

Car Workers Reject Offer

OSHAWA, (CP)—Employees of General Motors of Canada, members of the United Automobile Workers (U.A.W.) have rejected by a majority of 62 percent the company's latest proposals in negotiations on wages and hours. The union is seeking among other things a minimum wage of 60 cents an hour with corresponding increases in the intermediate and high-wage brackets.

LONDON, (CP)—A three-man government tribunal has begun hearings to determine the compensation value of Britain's 1,700 coal mines. The tribunal is to determine the value of the mines in the event of a nationalization plan to nationalize the mining industry.

Lord Justice Cohen and Sir Harold Howitt, president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, will appear before the tribunal. The tribunal is to determine the value of the mines in the event of a nationalization plan to nationalize the mining industry.

At the end they will announce the "global" figure to be paid to all the country's coal owners. The tribunal is to determine the value of the mines in the event of a nationalization plan to nationalize the mining industry.

Unofficial estimates have set the value of the mines at around £200,000,000 ($250,000,000).

The nationalization bill is before the House of Commons after receiving its third reading in the Commons. The bill is to set up the new coal board by late summer and start government operation of the mines in 1947.

On success or failure of the scheme for public ownership of the mines, launched at a time when coal stocks are dwindling dangerously, will depend the fate of the Prime Minister's plan to form a "socialist Commonwealth of Great Britain."

Locker Yields Dynamite Cache

BELLEVEUE, Ontario, (CP)—Eight boxes of dynamite and other explosives were found in a locker at the C.N.R. yard in Bellevue, Ontario, Tuesday after they had been arrested Glen McCallister, 45, Toronto, who was charged with theft of a parcel of cigarettes valued at $150.

Two cartage employees saw a man leaving the locker at 10:30 p.m. and when they called on the man, he ran. He was tackled by Fred Hayes, 20-year-old police officer, and turned over to police.

McCallister was charged with theft of a parcel of cigarettes valued at $150.

Threaten Call For More Pay

DETROIT, (AP)—The powerful C.I.O. United Auto Workers union Wednesday threatened to break its contract and reopen wage negotiations if prices climb.

Walter P. Reuther, U.A.W.-C.I.O. president, delivered the warning at a union rally which called for a one-day country-wide labor holiday to protest the end of Office of Price Administration controls.

Declaring most of the 18½ cent wage boost was earlier this year the new "lock" Mr. Reuther said: "We've got to see to it that wage increases are not reflected in inflated costs."

U.S. Prices Boom Perturbs Britons

By Basil Dean

LONDON, (AP)—Britons are smiling wryly over reports of rocketing prices and wild booms on commodity markets in the United States.

The smiles themselves came mostly from Socialists who for some time have been warning of the dangers of the still-unratified four-billion-dollar American loan to Britain.

The reaction of the official Labor Daily Herald, which concerns itself mainly with political lessons to be drawn from summary suspension of the life of O.P.A., comes very near to gloating. It gives America's price controls the treatment of a "big story on page one."

A long and caustic article by its Washington correspondent, "The horrors of 'uncontrolled' private prices," is a polemic editorial in which the Herald uses the United States situation as a stick to beat Britain.

Shoes at $156 As Prices Cut

MOBOW, (AP)—A 43-percent over-all price slash on consumer goods sold in commercial stores throughout the Soviet Union has resulted in a rash of trade, but despite the deep cuts as expressed in percentages, prices remain high by North American standards.

Men's leather shoes cut 42 percent, now sell at from $10 to $150 rubles (at the official rate, $2.2 rubles to the dollar) which would be $156 to $330 in United States funds.

59 of 73 Ships Felt Atom Blast

ABOARD U.S.S. APPALACHIAN, (AP)—Fifty-nine of 73 ships' target warships felt Monday's white-hot atomic blast in the North Atlantic.

Remained damaged ranging from minor to serious.

Five, including one modern cruiser, were sunk or damaged. Two other ships, including two cruisers and a carrier, were "heavily damaged." Damage to naval craft was not tallied.

The army's official ground forces observer, Maj. Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, concluded the United States navy reported Wednesday, with damage ranging from minor to serious.

Some writers are warning that Britain may have to seek cheaper food in countries other than the United States. But to the obvious supplementary question, "What can we do to have the answer?" Where else are the necessary food supplies to be found?

Begin Evidence In Nazi's Trial

MEDICINE HAT, (CP)—Sgt. W. H. Blundell, 30, Edmonton, in testifying Tuesday at the trial of Sgt. Walter W. H. Blundell, charged with the murder of a fellow prisoner, Karl Lehmann in the Medicine Hat internment camp Sept. 10, 1944, said he knew nothing of "orders" being broadcast by the camp.

Blundell identified a piece of cord found around Lehmann's neck. This was the one found around Lehmann's neck, witness said, and a distinct mark on the cord above a gas valve had been discovered.

Blundell said he was in charge of the Medicine Hat R.C.M.P. detachment at the time the prisoner was killed. He was in the camp on Sept. 11, 1944 and also the following day, and seeing a body hanging in the school room.

Balloting Today In Quebec Seat

COOKSHIRE, Que., (CP)—Voters in the rural eastern constituency of Compton went to the polls Wednesday to elect their member in the Quebec legislature.

The Compton vote is to name a successor to W. J. Duffy, Liberal, who died. The 12,757 electors, who are voting in the Compton constituency, are to elect a member in the Quebec legislature.

The candidates, officially nominated by the Liberal Party, are W. H. Blundell, 30, Edmonton, in testifying Tuesday at the trial of Sgt. Walter W. H. Consumer Sees Mounting Costs; Cattle Prices Reach New Peak

NEW YORK, (AP)—The United States consumer has only scattered pieces of a jigsaw price puzzle Wednesday to indicate his financial picture but he glimpsed higher costs in a few of them.

While it was too early to determine over-all trends in the costs of everyday necessities, the consumer took note of record high prices Tuesday for cattle, above-ceiling payments for hogs and varying increases in some cities in what he went for butter, poultry, milk, cheese, flour and a few other items, particularly rice.

Offsetting these advances were steady price levels in many other commodities, plus pledges from business and industry to keep them at what wherever possible.

In brief, Tuesday's price developments were these: Cattlemen rushed their animals to market to take advantage of ballooning prices, up to a record high $22.50 at Chicago, which was 50 cents above Monday and $4.50 over the highest O.P.A.'s top price.

Hogs glided to a new peak but the price was down only $1.00 and $1.50 below Monday's $18.50 top, the best price since 1919.

In New York and Chicago, poultry prices jumped seven and 10 cents a pound.

Wool futures for July cotton futures fell off. Textiles remained at ceiling levels.

Flour brought $5.17 to $5.35 per hundredweight for July shipments—above the O.P.A. price but under the former black market price by about $4, dealers said.

Grain prices boomed somewhat.

Lord Bennett Claims He Saw Hitler Lying Dead

LONDON, (CP Cable)—Congratulating the British government on the death of Adolf Hitler, Lord Bennett, at his Mickleham manor Wednesday on his 76th birthday.

Lord Bennett's health is reported not strong and he wears a patch over his right eye, which he said was a heart condition.

Writing in Wednesday's Daily Express, Lord Bennett attributed the eye condition to an injury and said he had been hit by a bullet in the chest of the bunker and set it on fire.

Kempka also told the international military tribunal he saw Martin Bormann, missing since the fall of the Reich, in the bunker, but he was not in the bunker when he was shot.

Barclay Field Marshal von Rundstedt said he wished people would stop talking about the "final solution" of the Jews. He said he was not responsible for the attack was Hitler's, not his.

The tribunal said he was against that type of offensive from the beginning, because the wehrmacht no longer had the right to kill. He said he was not responsible for the attack was Hitler's, not his.

Three Printers Return to Jobs

First to cross the picket line since the strike began last Nov. 8, the three were back at their machines at the weekend.

The Atom Bomb

It is far too early, of course, to discuss the scientific aspects of atomic energy as an instrument of war as revealed by Sunday's experiments at Bikini Atoll. Although the weapon was employed with horrifying success at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the fact that animals remained alive and that vegetation was undamaged on parts of the atoll might indicate that nuclear energy is not quite so destructive as was first believed.

It should be remembered, however, that all these reports have been subject to the strictest censorship. The world's number one secret is not being exposed to the hazards of free and unrestricted reporting. In short, the bare fact is that the public (and incidentally their nations) are being told exactly what the United States atomic authority wishes them to know.

The important thing about Sunday's tests and the tests to follow is that this prodigious force is being investigated in the most thorough and objective way. Whether the secret is to be shared with other nations, turned over to an international control or reserved for the use of the United States, Britain and Canada, these tests show that no step is to be ignored that will enable the possessor of the formula to employ it intelligently.

There is the further point that these tests will not only enlarge scientific knowledge as to the use of atomic force but also as to means of defense against it. This is the objective at Bikini Atoll and the underwater experiments that will occur in a few weeks time, are less important than the results of the bomb can destroy than in pointing out a technique for affording protection from its destructive power.

In Palestine

It is unfortunate that certain heated zealots have chosen to designate disturbances in Palestine as indications that Great Britain has declared war on the Jewish race.

It is an equally real remark that might have wide consequences if common sense and restraint are not employed in the interpretation of the latest news.

While it is true that many Jews in Canada and throughout the British Empire are devoted to the Zionist project in Palestine and have warmly supported them, it is also true that exceedingly few of these would countenance the latest behavior of that small number of their compatriots who have precipitated the crisis and heightened their impatience and high opinion.

In other words, it is as unfair to judge responsible Zionists by the antics of a small and riotous clique in Palestine as it would be to judge all Canadians on the basis of a police court parade.

On the other hand, intelligent Jews will not be stampeded by the wild charges that Britain is at war with Jewry. They will remember that down through all the ages, Britain and the British Empire have been a sanctuary for oppressed people of their race and that nowhere on the earth have Jews had fairer or more tolerant treatment than from British men and British institutions.

Why Not Do Something

Florida's Senator Claude Pepper doesn't in "policy" in Palestine. Neither does anybody else. Least of all the British ministers, officials and taxpayers. He is not a pro-Jewish task with which these have been saddled there by action of the League of Nations and inaction of other powers.

But the Senator is overlooking one point. He no longer stands on the sidelines as a spectator with no responsibility, free to throw brick-bats with impunity. That was his position some months ago but not any longer. The United States has on urgent invitation—agreed to associate in the British plan in working out a solution of the Palestine problem. A joint-committee has indicated a line of action and proposed that the United States take a hand in actually dealing with the situation.

If the Senator wants to change the present unlovely picture—and who doesn't—he might urge Congress to get busy and implement that report.

Today in Europe

By Randolph Churchill

PARIS — Progress of the Foreign Ministers' conference has been as cumbersome as their previous meetings. But despite absence of agreement on fundamentals, the general atmosphere has been more cordial.

The conference has been agreeably free from personal recriminations between Molotov and Stalin. On the other hand, there have been unnecessary difficulties on technical matters, such as press arrangements. These misunderstandings arose in the following way:

At the previous Paris meeting minor deadlocks had been broken at last. The delegates were out to a minimum and decisions were kept secret. In the hope of speeding up the procedure, Stalin proposed a series of similar sessions. Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault immediately agreed. It was thought that the agreement, but later the American delegation saw American correspondents and gave them a full account of the talks. Later, however, Byrnes gave way, and some "small and secret" session were held.

Present Wilson publicized the slogan: "Open agreements openly arrived at." He meant he was opposed to secret treaties concluded between great powers and, after lying dormant for years, resurrected and had to be indemnified by millions who had never been consulted or even informed of the conditions agreed to in their names.

Unfortunately general prejudice against secret treaties has been invoked against any sort of private discussion between responsible leaders. This is folly. Diplomacy cannot be conducted on the housetops. But what modern democracy has a right to demand is that the results of diplomacy should be proclaimed therefrom.

Under a system of free government, the people have the right and power to elect their rulers. Having done so, they ought to give them some measure of confidence. If the peoples of the Western democracies will not do this, this is the responsibility of their leaders, they are bound to find themselves progressively prevailed upon by more authoritarian systems of government.

The Battle For Dollars

By Bruce Hutchison

The war was fought on many fronts. For Canada not the least important was the dollar front. And the victory here was hardly less remarkable. Now, for the first time, the secret strategy of financial warfare is revealed.

A special report by Graham Tower, chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, shows how Canada was compelled in wartime to husband its gold and United States dollars carefully as it protected its armaments. Without this secret struggle to conserve the financial strength of war, Canada's production of armaments, its enormous shipments of weapons and materials would have been impossible. That battle behind the scenes, the battle for dollars, is the story of Mr. Tower's report makes dull reading but behind it can be seen the story of a crisis which threatened the whole war programme. These arose out of Canada's foreign trade reflected in it the economic uncertainties. For years Canada sold more goods to Britain than it bought. As a result, Canada accumulated large stores of British money. At the same time it sold to the United States less than it bought. As a result, Canada, therefore, was short of American dollars. It covered this deficiency by converting its British pounds into dollars in a world where currencies were interchangeable. But as the war deepened British pounds could not be converted into dollars. Yet for its own war programme, Canada had to increase enormously its purchases of American goods.

By 1942 Canada's holdings of gold and dollars had dropped to $75 millions. We had enough to cover only six weeks of essential imports. If these had stopped our war programme would have collapsed. It was the job of the Foreign Exchange Control Board to find American dollars. It pursued many different methods. But the break in the crisis came with the creation of the conference under which the United States agreed to make heavy purchases of war goods in Canada.

But Mr. Tower warns that "the main factor responsible for this result were directly connected with the war and have now ceased to operate." The great question arising now, therefore, is how we can continue to finance huge imports from the United States. They can be financed only if the United States exports to the United States or by heavy sales in world markets and the trucking of some goods stolen from him during the trouble last year.

It is obvious that, failing the interchangeability of currencies, Canada may face further currency crises. In anticipation of such difficulties it is reported that the government is preparing to renege the general powers of the Foreign Exchange Control Board which were granted only on an emergency basis for the war years.

The Road Ahead

By J. Harper Prowse, M.L.A.

DVA's counselors, going around the country to give advice and assistance to returned men in rural and outlying districts, report that returned men are still showing a primary interest in training opportunities. Recently out of 217 men interviewed by one counselor in the Peace River district 86 wanted details on vocational or university training. Fifty-six had queries about the Veterans Land Act.

In the forces, particularly in the air force, the emphasis was on specialization. Because of the mechanization of the forces there was an overwhelming demand for tradesmen. The forces, to get maximum efficiency, broke most of the trades down into sub-trades—and each man was trained to do one or two specialties. This, of course, is the key to mass-production. Then, too, in the forces, tradesmen were trained to do more than they are back in civilian life. The servicemen are having this lesson impressed on them again. They are being trained to give rise to two problems. First is that training centres are all in cities or towns already over-crowded. Second is that many have had to postpone or forego training because they could not find living accommodation. This is the problem that is giving rise to the two problems. First is that training centres are all in cities or towns already over-crowded. Second is that many have had to postpone or forego training because they could not find living accommodation.

We have seen how materials, we have, and are obtaining more, we can get the common sense that God gave us there is no reason why Canada cannot become the better country we all hope for.

Brakes Are Off In U.S.

Without entirely intending it, the United States seems to be headed into one of the most perilous economic recessions in its history. For months the American people have been debating whether the complete and instantaneous removal of the price controls would produce runaway inflation. Now they are going to find out.

The prospects are for weeks of delivering between the administration and congress before some compromise is worked out. During those weeks inflationary pressures may get beyond control.

Prices of food and other necessities already have risen, and particularly ominous is the price of gasoline. In some places have "gone out of sight" in twenty-four hours. Uncertainty over whether a new stop-gap control law will be passed is said to have restrained many dealers from marking up goods, but as the prospect for such legislation fades, they too will join the scramble.

No one expects this to lead to the kind of runaway inflation which exists in some parts of Europe, where money has become virtually valueless. America's productive power is too great to permit the dire shortages which really cause inflation in those countries.

Nevertheless the consequences flowing from the collapse of the control system will be serious enough. The final result may be "boom and bust", similar to that of 1920.

Canada is bound to be affected. American commodities, both finished goods and raw materials, enter into so many phases of our economic life that any general rise in prices across the line is bound to be reflected here. The task of the Canadian government now must be to keep this increase within reasonable limits.

Nationalist Still Bitter

The old, belligerent spirit of nationalism, which has started the last century, still exists and is still far from dead. This was sharply illustrated by the Italian reaction to the award of the Nobel prize for literature in Paris, giving the Alpine villages of Tenda and Briga a boost.

These villages are insignificant places, only valuable for their connection with a large hydro-electric plant; and the prize, which is awarded to the author of the best work of literature, is hardly a source of pride. Nevertheless the fuss the Italians have raised over the award could hardly be louder if Genoa or Venice had been handed over. A newspaper described the award as "the greatest insult to Mussolini's 'Stab in the back' of France in 1940. A cabinet minister, speaking at a rally of war veterans, recalled the words of the nineteenth-century nationalist, Mazzini: 'May the borders that nature has given her.' The famous conductor Toscanini, and the Milan orchestra, demonstrated their indignation by cancelling a scheduled concert in Paris.

Premier de Gasperi was more moderate in his remarks. He spoke of the incident as "a grave error" against Franco-Italian friendship. Indeed the dispute appears to have ruffled in the bud a promising movement for the reconciliation of the two countries.

No doubt this teapot tempest will blow over in due course. Briga and Tenda are too unimportant to create a real long-term issue. Nevertheless the affair shows how jealous even the most shattered and demoralized European states are of their boundaries, their sovereignty and their "prestige". War and famine have banked the old fires, but they still smoulder.

Atomic Gold Brick Latest

You would think that everyone on this continent at least would know that the only "person" making, or allowing, the making of atomic bombs is Uncle Sam. And the widest publicity has been given to the decision of the United States government, with Great Britain and Canada concurring, to allow no private firm or individual to go into the business—ever.

But that has not kept a bunch of Montreal crooks from selling an atomic gold brick to suckers. They are said to have netted half a million dollars from an undetermined number of greedy fools, who expected to make a fortune out of an "atomic bomb". Now the bomb has blown up in their faces!

Edda Ciano, Mussolini's daughter, is using a Swiss paper for calling her "unmarried" and "adventuress", and an unmitigated liar. No lady could overlook such caty remarks.

The housing situation is now so bad that people are finding a door to be kept away from.

Greece Honors Canada

The people of Athens have done signal honor to Prime Minister King and, through him, to Canada. They have just renamed Lykabettus Street in the Greek capital Mackenzie King Street.

The change has been made, the official announcement says, "in recognition of the gratitude of the Greek people to the Canadian prime minister and the Canadian people for the moral and material assistance which has been repeatedly extended to this country."

This is a gracious gesture of friendship for Canada, and it will be appreciated. The heroic stand of the Greeks against the Axis early in the war, and their subsequent sufferings, have strongly appealed to the imagination and sympathy of Canadians, and all have been glad to be able to render assistance in their fight against famine.

India Settlement Nearer

Now that the British cabinet mission to India has adjourned its negotiations with Indian leaders it is possible to cast up a balance sheet of its accomplishments.

The mission has already performed the most critical part of its task. After long and bitter wrangling, it has finally persuaded Moslem and Hindu leaders to agree on a constitution for a self-governing India, thus removing the greatest obstacle to Indian independence. The system of government finally worked out at the conference in New Delhi seems fragile and unstable, but it represents the most possible basis of agreement between the hostile and suspicious factions.

One of the aims of this achievement, the commission's failure to secure an agreement on the form of the interim government may be a source of lively minor account. The difficulty on this point arose principally from the fears of both Hindus and Moslems that the other party might get the upper hand in the interim cabinet, and use its influence to damage its rivals. Probably the leaders on both sides are only too happy to see the responsibility for running India during the next few months delegated to the caretaker government nominated by the Viceroy. From such an administration, neither sect has anything to fear.

Once the elections for the constituent assembly are over, negotiations over the interim government are to be resumed. By then the atmosphere may be in a more tractable mood. In particular, the excitement and animosity generated by the arrest of Mr. Jinnah, and the arrest for which the British government was in no way responsible—should have died down. In any case, the Hindus and the Moslems may be willing to compromise their claims.

In any case, the events of the last three months have shown conclusively that the barrier to Indian independence is not British imperialism, but the profound divisions among the Indian people themselves.

Registration Cards

Parliamentary backbenchers may be able to do something about our new registration cards when labor department estimates are up for debate. Officialdom would like Canadians to carry the cards forever. Police believe they are useful for identification purposes.

Too frequently, however, the registration cards are used by crooks as a means of evading identification—how often have we seen a card in the pocket of a thief? The police believe the cards are in possession of one or more forged or stolen national registration cards.

Fingerprints provide more certain identification, and if we are to have any national identification system, it should be based on fingerprints—made when we are babies and filed away at some national or provincial security.

Apart altogether from any question of "regimentation", the cards have served their wartime purpose. Now, however, they are now frayed and dirty after five years in a pocket book, are more often than not left at home just when a policeman wants to see one, and might better be discarded once and for all.

Even provincial liquor boards could get along very well without their being produced when farmers are asked to pay the tax on their liquor. The boards could get a new fingerprint when a farmer is asked to pay the tax on his liquor. The boards could get a new fingerprint when a farmer is asked to pay the tax on his liquor.

Here and There

A Hollywood character makes a living by winding turbans around the heads of actors playing Oriental roles. Thus, the "turban" is a common sight from those first aid courses in bandaging.

Shed a few tears for ex-King Umberto. He has no throne, no money, and probably no unemployment insurance card.

The Third Column

MAKER OF HISTORY
By David Schoenbrun

PARIS
A 47-year-old, dapper ex-professor of history, Georges Bidault, the third President of the French since liberation, is now making history.

Helping to mold this country's future comes from the fact that he was a German prisoner-of-war camp in July, 1941, to become, a year later, chief of the National Resistance Council (CNR). His editorial on the work which directed the resistance against the German and Vichy regimes.

X X X

Georges Bidault was born in 1899 in the city of Moulins, near Vichy. In early youth, he served in the trenches of the First World War. Afterward, he became a very active member of the Catholic Youth Movement. It was his introduction to politics and led him to become a member of the leadership of the popular Republican movement (M.R.P.), the progressive Catholic party which won the largest in France.

In 1925, he led the lists in the national examination for the title of "agregé" in history. It is the highest title awarded by a university and entitles the holder to a professorship. Professor Bidault's first post was in Valenciennes, then at Rheims and finally in Paris at the Lycée Louis le Grand, one of the most famous schools in France.

He soon began to exert an influence in political circles as a member of the staff of the newspaper L'Aube, now the official organ of the M.R.P. He has a consistent record of fighting Fascism and Communism. His articles in the French press are respected classics in French journalism.

In 1940, M. Bidault was mobilized for his country's second war against Germany in 25 years. As an infantry sergeant, he moved to the front for active duty early in the campaign. In May, 1940, he was captured by the Germans near Soissons. He was released a year later and returned to Lyon to teach his subject at the University of Lyon. A position which served to cloak his real activities in the underground, which he joined as soon as he was released from the P.W. camp.

X X X

It was as Xavier that he fought in the battle of First Frenchman to finish at the top of the list in the competitive civil service examinations for the diplomatic service. She has lately been promoted to Embassy Counselor. She is now Mme. Georges Bidault.

X X X

The Bidaults live in the Quai d'Orsay apartment reserved for ministers of foreign affairs. Their children have occupied since Sept. 9, 1944, when Gen. Charles de Gaulle called the resistance leader to take over that portfolio. Their most cherished possessions are the President's "turban" stamp collection, a complete bound file of L'Aube and a handsome salad bowl of Sequoia wood with a silver inlaid handle.

Georges Bidault, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in friendly memory of his trip to the United States. E.R. Stettinius.

X X X

M. Bidault is the very prototype of a foreign minister. Sometimes called "the French Anthony Eden" he is immaculately dressed, without ostentation. His graying black hair sets off his youthful face and slender athletic build. He is very large and impressive and he never wears a hat at any season of the year. He owns only one hat, an old black one which was part of his disguise under the occupation.

Shortly after their marriage, M. Bidault was asked to buy him a hat when he was to go through the village of Chazelles, the famous hat center of France, but it was impossible to find a hat in the village. He was in the French Danbury to find one large enough to fit his head measure, 62 centimeters (25 inches). He was told that he was likely that his new success would give M. Bidault a bigger head.

Shattered by the shocks of the disturbance, the pavement on the Comox-Courtenay highway just outside Courtenay, B.C. was cracked and heaved for several hundred yards. Examining the wreckage is F.O.J.H. Hault of the RCAF base at Comox.

Premier Declines Budget Comment

Premier Ernest Manning on Wednesday declined immediate comment on the budget brought down by Finance Minister Tully, stating that the provincial cabinet ministers and treasury officials had received copies and that the whole matter is at present under careful study and analysis.

The premier said he regarded this year's budget as extremely important in the light of the federal government's wartime assumption of provincial fields of taxation, which agreement for Alberta terminates March 31, 1947.

He said he expected he would be in a position to make a statement at an early date.

Infantile Cases Reported Here

The second case of poliomyelitis in Edmonton this year, that of an 18-month old child, was reported to the city health department during the week ended June 29. Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer for health, stated that case was a very mild one, and the child has been released from hospital.

A CASE of diphtheria also was reported in Edmonton during the week. It was that of a three-year old boy, who was taken to hospital where it was found he was suffering from the disease.

Three other members of the family, the "positive" when examined by city health authorities. Source of the disease is being investigated.

WITH THE CLOSING of many schools during last week the decline in the number of measles cases predicted by Dr. Little was confirmed, there being a decrease of 106 during the week compared with the week previous when 270 cases came to the attention of the health department.

Twenty-one cases of chickenpox were reported last week compared with 17 the week previous, and 27 of mumps against 24 during the previous week. Four cases of scarlet fever were reported against two during the week ended June 22.

Two new cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) are reported from the Wetaskiwin and Morinville districts, both involving "teen aged" boys. Dr. M. R. Bow, deputy medical officer of health, stated Wednesday. They are being hospitalized in Edmonton.

THE TWO NEW CASES bring Alberta's poli incidence to six for the year, adding that he did not feel there was any reason for undue alarm but that parents should be on guard against any unusual illness or strange symptoms in children.

From the present time until the end of August in the season when poli incidence is most marked according to statistics, he said.

Support Workers

AUCKLAND, N.Z. July 3 (CP)—New Zealand newspapers today were flooded with letters supporting the workers who refused to load ships with butter for the United States. The attitude of the workers was said to be a reflection of the belief that food made available in New Zealand through the "Food for Britain" campaign is not all going to Britain but is being used to build up dollar credits in the United States.

America's Card Authority

Playing against an expert and playing against an average player require different methods. With the average player, you know that he is probably following the course of least resistance in making a play. Very often the expert makes a play to give you a chance to make a play for the purpose of misleading you on the hand.

In the recent Vanderbilt Cup Tournament, Samuel Katz of Milburn, N. J., a member of the team finishing second was in a contract of six no-trump on today's hand. He won the opening spade lead with the queen, and realized that in order to make his contract it was important that he take the diamond finesse the right way. He proceeded to run the spade suit, and on the third spade, Howard Schenken (West) let go a diamond.

Now Katz re-sounded this: Schenken opened a short spade suit. Why did he not lead a diamond or a heart? Probably because he did not want to lead away from an honor. In discarding the three diamonds, Schenken wanted to give the impression that he was in a strong position to protect anything in that suit.

So, after cashing out the spade suit, Katz led a small diamond from dummy, won with the king, then led the jack of diamonds. When Schenken refused to cover, Katz let it ride, and he contract was made.

It has been estimated that Americans eat a million doughnuts daily.

Before the Magistrate

Pleading guilty to a charge of theft of a suit of clothes valued at $25, Clifford Jamieson was sentenced to 30 days hard labor at Fort Saskatchewan jail when he appeared before Magistrate A.I. Miller, K.C. in city police court on Wednesday. He was accused of having taken the suit from a friend and then sold it to a second hand store for $15. "It would have been three months if you had not made restitution," remarked Magistrate Miller.

Harry Kolach was fined $25 and costs or 35 days imprisonment for attempting to cash a cheque under false pretences. He said he had found the cheque on the floor of a business establishment. It was for $35.98.

On a charge of vagrancy, Joyce Smith was sentenced to 30 days hard labor at Fort Saskatchewan. A girl charged with failure to produce a national registration card, before the court on a second charge of vagrancy, was placed on 12 months suspended sentence when her older sister promised that the girl would take the next train out of Edmonton for her home in Saskatchewan.

NAME SIMILARITY Cause of Concern

Proposal to call the Jesuit College hospital the Alexander hospital in honor of His Excellency Viscount Alexander of Tunis, governor-general of Canada, is causing some concern to civic officials because of the similarity of the proposed name with the Royal Alexandra hospital.

The city commissioners are taking the matter up with the local authorities in charge of the Governor-General's visit here, and may suggest that an alternative title for the hospital be used.

Search Northland For Missing Plane

RCAF and USAF search and rescue planes are searching the area north of Fort Nelson for a Piper Cub light plane missing since last Friday afternoon. North West Air Command headquarters announced Tuesday.

The missing plane, one of the two being ferried from Luchaven, Texas to Anchorage, Alaska, was piloted by Joseph Barber of Jamestown, N.Y.

The two planes left Fort Nelson Friday afternoon with the next scheduled landing at Smith River to the northwest.

The Cub plane piloted by Barber was observed by Maj. Weyer, flying the second plane to turn north as the machines passed over Raging River.

Maj. Weyer landed at Smith River but Barber's plane did not arrive.

Both pilots had been told to follow the Alaska highway.

The search is continuing.

Authority for the purchase of specialized equipment for use in Edmonton's hard-of-hearing class, to be opened at Queen's Avenue school in September, was granted at a meeting of the Edmonton Public School Board Tuesday evening.

THE "TROJAN HORSE" WAS NOT TROJAN

Popular use of the word "Trojan horse" has led to the erroneous conclusion by many that it was something created by the Trojans. The story goes that when the Greeks were unable to take Troy by siege, they made a wooden horse, filled it with Greek soldiers, left it at the gates of Troy, then retired as though giving up the blockade. When the Trojans through curiosity, had carried the wooden horse into the city and were making merry, the Greek soldiers stole out of it in the night, opened the gates of the city from the inside and the Greek army rushed in to capture Troy—and to recover Helen, the most beautiful woman in the world. Compared with modern wars, the Greeks really had something to fight for!

Mineral Taxation Under Negotiation
Payment of 1945 mineral taxes at the rate of four mills on the dollar, and the scaling down of original assessments is being negotiated between the provincial government and corporations which appealed their assessments. The 1945 mineral tax payment of four mills on the dollar resulted from a compromise agreement.

THE GOVERNMENT Wednesday announced the four-mill rate on the assessed value of all minerals in each producing area would be the basis for settlement, and it is understood that majority of the companies have concurred with this taxation level.

The compromise rate is a substantial reduction from the original assessments appealed against by the corporations on the ground that they were excessive and illegal.

The settlement ends several months of negotiation which started when 60 appeals against mineral assessments were entered with the Alberta assessment commission last February. The assessments had been made under an amendment to the mineral taxation act passed in 1945, and which extended the tax to coal. Previously the assessment area was confined to Turner Valley.

Appellants include the CPR, Lethbridge Collieries Ltd., Canmore Coal Co. and E. Corporation, and Hillcrest Collieries. Hearing of the appeals opened last spring in Calgary before G. M. Blackstock, K.C., and were adjourned on request of S. W. Field, K.C., counsel for the province. After the adjournment negotiations were carried on which resulted in the compromise agreement on the tax rate.

Directors of Fair Are Congratulated
Congratulations on their inclusion in the Dominion Day honours list were extended to three members of the Edmonton Exhibition Association by their fellow directors at a meeting of the association held Tuesday evening at the arena.

The directors receiving congratulations were: Carl Berg, K.C., Vice and J. Harry Wildman, awarded the MBE for war services. Mr. Price served as city chairman of National War Finance Committee, and Mr. Berg was active in many phases of the nation's war work. Mr. Wildman was Alberta chairman of the Air Cadets of Canada.

Why Grow Old?

Here's something in which the men will be interested — this picture of lovely actress Angela Greene. The men will be in better shape, themselves, too, if they follow Josephine Lowman's advice today.

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
WOMEN SEEM TO BE MORE susceptible to obesity than men, however, "Why Grow Old?" can tell you that many men also are unhappy because of too many pounds and are anxious to lose them.

There are many reasons for the great tendency of women to overweight. In the first place, they are around the house more during the day and therefore have greater temptation to take between-meal snacks. Then, too, it is difficult to be a good cook without tasting and much of this will count up. Women also go to daytime parties where food is served.

WOMEN LEAD a less active life physically, give sports up more readily and are more subject to glandular changes. There is also a theory that women generally have less hemoglobin than men and therefore less oxidation of food. Whatever the factors are, men, too, have their figure and health problems.

Men should bear in mind the fact that they require more calories on a reducing diet than women because of their larger build. It seems to me the noon hour is the logical time for the man who wishes to reduce to cut down rather drastically on calories, because a light lunch leaves his mind keener for the work of the afternoon while a heavy lunch bogs him down mentally.

Blackhawks, Kansas City May Stage Series Here

Edmonton may see pre-season exhibition games between Chicago Blackhawks and Kansas City of the United States league if negotiations between William Tobin, president of the Blackhawks and C. E. Wilson, managing director of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, are successful. Directors of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, which is in charge of the exhibition grounds, have received a request from the Canadian Athletic Club relative to the staging of the exhibition games here, and the request was referred to the management to deal with when Mr. Tobin visits the city this week. The Canadian Athletic Club also asked for permission to use the exhibition track for a motorcycle meeting on Labor Day, Sept. 2 next. This also was referred to the management for negotiation with the club. Fred W. Kemp, a member of the association's hockey committee, reported that several outstanding players had been signed for the Flyers next season, and that on present indications Edmonton would have a "very much better team in the Western Canada Senior Hockey league." Mr. Wilson reported that plans were being made to increase the seating accommodation of the arena by at least 1,000 seats, and also to provide additional exits, and improve the fire protection facilities.

Registrations Open For Course

Registrations for the recreational leadership course sponsored by the Recreation Commission commenced Tuesday night at the Museum of Fine Arts, in the New Market building. More than 70 members are now registered. W.C. Richards, chairman of the commission, welcomed members on behalf of the mayor and stated he was very pleased to see such an interest in recreation in the city. He outlined the purpose of the course, which was to acquaint community workers with a well-balanced leisure time program. Mickey McGuire, supervisor for the commission, introduced the directors for the course and each gave a brief outline of the work to commence next Thursday evening. Directors are Mrs. J. McLean, music and choral singing; Mrs. N.W. Haynes, dramatics; R.W. Headley and Mrs. D. Barnhouse, applied arts and handicrafts; G. Higginson and J. Rell, sports and games. Each director outlined a course and named those who were going to assist. Special plays will be shown by drama groups, displays of handicrafts will be held, music and choral groups will be presented, and several sportsmen such as John Ducey, Bobby Case, Tom Green and others will speak. Following the short outline given by the directors a special bus took members to several of the playgrounds being prepared and Mickey McGuire gave a talk on each, telling how they would operate and fit into the city's plan. He also gave a brief outline of the program being carried out on the GYRO playgrounds, now being opened by the city.

Millers Discuss Flour Standard

Discussions leading to an agreement as to a common standard of flour for export trade featured sessions Tuesday and Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Western Millers Association being held in Edmonton. THE MILLERS' association, formed just one year ago, has a membership of more than 50 wheat mills in the three prairie provinces. Norman MacKachren, Wetaskiwin, president, is presiding over the two-day convention that opened in the Macdonald hotel Tuesday and continued Wednesday to the Memorial Hall, where adjournment was scheduled in the evening. OFFICIALS of leading western grain brokerage firms are also attending the sessions. J. Van Humber, of Strone is vice-president, with Peter Fisher, Rosthern, Sask., secretary. Several speakers pointed out that the huge market for Canadian grain and flour is at present due to world conditions of famine. Markets that will endure during more normal times are "what Canadian flour manufacturers should concentrate on at this time, the speakers stressed. Quality and uniformity of standards should therefore be the objective of the small miller. WITH THAT objective in view the necessity for stronger organization of millers in the west was emphasized. A. Goss of Seattle, western coast speaker, addressed the convention as did the Canadian Wheat representative, C. Brewster of Vancouver. The outlook for Canadian flour markets in the Orient and in South America is particularly bright, the speaker said. ABOUT 90 PER CENT of western flour production has been going to Great Britain through purchases made by the British food ministry. Other prominent grain brokerage officials attending the convention are: Fred Parrish of Parrish-Henricks, Winnipeg; J. White of McQueen and White, Vancouver. About 35 have been at the sessions. Election of new officers for the coming association year was scheduled for the afternoon session Wednesday.

Refused $1,300 Implement Loan, Farmer Wins $15,000 in Draw

Fifteen thousand dollars richer on Tuesday than he was on Monday was the rare and pleasant experience of Joe Smigelski, whose ticket on the Kimberley Memorial Society won the outstanding award of the 100 prizes totalling $25,000 when the draw was made at that British Columbia town Monday night. SMIGELSKI IS A FARMER of Beach Corner, 30 miles west of Edmonton where he resides with his wife and four children during the season of farm operation and works as a bottler at the Orange Crush plant here when the pressure of farm duties slackens. Unaware of his good fortune until advised of it by a reporter late Tuesday afternoon, Smigelski received the news with an astonishing outward calm, but after he began to accumulate at his rotary capping machine he acknowledged, "I have won something unusual has happened in the family."

Britain May Not Get Loan Because Congress Hostile

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON. — The United States $1,500,000,000 loan to Britain, the passage of which has been taken pretty well for granted during the past few weeks, is in grave jeopardy.

Highly qualified sources said British representatives have been warned of the grave high probability the loan will be turned down by congress. They also saw British decision not to enter into a wheat agreement with the United States as a move to appease the hostility. Principal reasons given by congress forecasting failure of the loan are:

Over-confidence — passage has been taken so much for granted that in recent weeks administration spokesmen who desire the loan to go through have not taken the trouble to press their arguments in its favor.

Increasing belief on the part of congressmen that their constituents are opposed to the measure. This opposition is based on the fact that the loan has been presented largely as a "handout" to Britain, without emphasis on the considerable economic benefits which the United States would receive in return.

Allocation of some former supporters of the loan by the attitude of British Foreign Secretary Bevin to Jewish immigration to Palestine. Probably the most important — the current general hostility of congress to President Truman and his administration, spawned during the labor legislation battle of a month ago and incubated this week-end by the veto of the O.P.A. extension bill.

If the loan is refused by congress, as now appears highly probable, the economic effects on Canada will be immense.

Britain will have to turn to the dominion for all its dollar funds, mostly in the form of further credit. It also will seek to buy in Canada many of the commodities which would otherwise have come from the U.S.

At the same time, the new pattern of international trade which is in the painful process of being hammered out, will receive a grave setback, and although Canada may benefit immediately, in the long run, the dominion will suffer for the economic effects on Canada will be immense from the world economic dislocation which is bound to follow.

Atom Proposals Given By Evatt

NEW YORK. (AP)—Six proposals on which a charter for controlling atomic energy might be built were laid before a special subcommittee of the United Nations atomic energy commission at its first closed meeting by Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia.

Dr. Evatt, chairman of the atomic energy commission, announced earlier the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France, Mexico and Australia would make up the subcommittee. He called a meeting immediately and placed the following proposals before the subcommittee for hours of discussion and recommendations:

"There should be a single international instrument embodying a comprehensive plan for international control and development of atomic energy; an international atomic energy authority to administer and carry out the plan and to be vested with wide discretionary powers; understanding by member nations not to use atomic energy for purposes of war."

"For purposes of carrying out the plan an international authority should be vested with all necessary rights relevant to raw materials, processes, plans, and products of plants."

"Effective systems should be established for preventing breaches of the agreed restrictions and controls and the international authority should be required to promote and carry out plans for development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

"Scientific information on nuclear processes and their application for peaceful purposes should be exchanged, care being taken at each stage not to prejudice the effectiveness of the agreed safeguards against misuse. Such exchange of information should take place by an interchange of personnel and through open publication."

"The general plan should provide that at times and under conditions to be fixed by the international authority, the manufacture of atomic bombs should cease and all existing bombs should be dismantled."

Tells How Huns Got 'Exonerated'

MUENSTER, (AP)—A Bulgarian member of the so-called international commission, charged by Germany to investigate the Katyn Forest massacre Tuesday testified he and his fellows had been compelled to sign a report exonerating Hitler's armed forces.

M. A. Markov told the war crimes tribunal the Germans used psychology to obtain the signatures of legal and medical experts to documents they never had a chance to read much less to write themselves.

The witness was called by the Russians in an effort to establish that German and not Soviet armies slew 11,000 Polish officers near Smolensk.

Canada to Feel U.S. Inflation

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON. — External effects of the inflation to which the United States appears committed are likely to be felt more strongly in Canada than in any other country. The present U.S.-Canadian rate of exchange which puts the dominion's currency at a discount coupled with the already-high prices of all U.S. goods has for some months past produced economic tension in Canada.

At present it is highly advantageous for Americans to buy in Canada, highly disadvantageous for Canadians to buy in the United States. There is speculation here that the Canadian government, faced with the certain exaggeration of this condition within the next few weeks, will decide either to slacken its own price controls—which have been infinitely more effective than those in the U.S.—or to revalue the Canadian dollar so as to bring commodity values on both sides of the border more nearly into line.

Lethbridge Man Heads Veterans

LETHBRIDGE, (CP)—Harold McLaughlin, of Lethbridge, was elected Alberta president of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' association at the organization's annual convention Monday. He succeeds H. Lema, of Edmonton. R. H. Scott, of Calgary, was elected vice-president, the post held during the past year by Mr. McLaughlin. The association in a resolution called on all units of the association to refuse membership to all N.R.M.A. soldiers (draftees) who failed or refused to volunteer for overseas active service.

The convention also urged the federal government to enact legislation to enable all Imperial veterans with 20 years of residence in Canada to the same benefits under the war veterans' allowance, (turn-out pension) as available to veterans of the Canadian forces. T. Hollands, of Edmonton, was elected second vice-president.

Woolton Named As Party Chief

By Basil Dean

LONDON. — Britain's Conservative party has started ransacking the political machine in an effort to repair ravages of last year's electoral defeat.

At what is reported to be the personal request of Winston Churchill, Lord Woolton—leader of one of Britain's biggest department store chains, brilliantly successful food minister in the wartime coalition government, but hitherto regarded as a non-party man—has become Conservative party chairman.

On the face of it, Woolton knows little of political strategy and tactics, but he is admitted even by Laborites to be a first class administrator. The best guess therefore is that Woolton will put the Conservative nationwide machinery in good running order while other Tories better acquainted with the finer points of electioneering, will lay down broad lines of future party policy.

Strangely enough, Woolton's appointment gets scant attention in any London papers, except in the official Labor Daily Herald.

Characteristically, the Herald warmly the Socialist faithful that Woolton's job will be to make utmost possible political capital out of the present food crisis. At the same time, the Herald derives a vigorous satisfaction from the fact that a man who was widely publicized during coalition days as being of no party should now turn out to be a Tory after all.

Having disposed of Woolton's qualifications for his new job and having forewarned Socialists by stating that Woolton will contract the food situation now with food shortage when he was in office at Food Minister, the Herald forecasts that Woolton's main job will be to rejuvenate the Tory party's age-hardened arteries.

However accurate the Herald's highly colored prophesies may be, it at least seems clear that Conservatives now are going all out to build a new electoral platform which they hope will defeat Socialists in four years time.

Ellen Wilkinson Meets Criticism

LONDON. (Reuters). — Sharp criticism of the education ministry was voiced in the commons by W. C. Cove, former president of the National Union of Teachers and Labor member for Abercrombie, as he moved what amounted to a vote of no confidence in Education Minister Ellen Wilkinson.

Declaring that Miss Wilkinson gave the impression she was not at grips with her department, Mr. Cove moved her salary be reduced by £100 ($445) a year—the customary means of expressing criticism of a minister.

He said Miss Wilkinson had done everything she could "to throw cold water" on the educational plans of the Labor party and had repudiated the plans in outlook and in practice. He added that she was a danger to the whole of the British Labor movement as far as its educational policy was concerned.

Miss Wilkinson, who inaugurated the debate, outlined the two main objectives of her department as she asked the house for the largest education estimates in history—£100,000,000.

She said her objectives were to raise the compulsory school leaving age to 15 by next April and to expand and improve the school meals service. Miss Wilkinson said her aim so far has been to see that child is provided with the lack of money has been the education for which he or she was qualified.

The mother, Mrs. Marie Wisniewski, 42, died Monday.

Jackie found her ironing board on the floor beside her pressing box on which she had been pressing his clothes for the New York trip. He had been ill five years but never knew she suffered from an incurable disease. Her last words were for Jackie.

"Be sure to have your operation, son, no matter what happens." Although Jackie will make the trip, the operation may not be performed until July 10, as scheduled. Doctors said the tears which Jackie shed when his mother died—years forbidden by his doctor—may delay the operation for at least eight months.

ANOTHER "FIRST" FOR CHEVROLET

1946 Stylemaster Sedan Makes First Trans-Canada Trip to Win Todd Medal for Brig. R. A. Macfarlane

BRIGADIER R. A. MACFARLANE, D.S.O.

DOWN "CANADA'S MAIN STREET"—The Trans-Canada Highway, which links province to province, from sea to sea, and opens the way to a great new era of tourist travel.

Rolling along "Canada's Main Street"—the Trans-Canada Highway—from coast to coast, Brigadier R. A. Macfarlane, D.S.O., at the wheel of a new 1946 Chevrolet Sedan, has just completed the first ocean-to-ocean automobile trip without leaving Canadian soil.

To win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal—offered in 1912 by the Mayor of Victoria—Brig. Macfarlane left Louisbourg, Nova Scotia, with the salt of the Atlantic on his rear wheels, and after nine days of driving he arrived in Victoria, Vancouver Island, B.C., and dipped his front wheels in the Pacific, having covered

4,743 MILES

The Chevrolet used was a stock 1946 model powered with a standard six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. It was selected by Brig. Macfarlane—who held the responsible posts of Director of Mechanization and Deputy Master-General of Ordnance, at Defence Headquarters, Ottawa—because he is convinced that a "sturdy, light, economical passenger car is ideal for the average Canadian citizen." With his extensive experience of army vehicles, on the testing grounds and on active service in two wars, Brig. Macfarlane made the new Chevrolet his choice for his history-making trip—another "first" for Chevrolet!

NEARING THE END OF THE TRAIL—J. V. Johnson and George Warren of the Victoria Automobile Club, meet Brigadier Macfarlane and his Chevrolet a few miles outside Victoria and escort him into the City.

THROUGH THE ROCKIES—The Chevrolet spent thrilling hours skirting sheer precipices and climbing high mountain roads before it encountered this quiet little valley in Canada's Rocky Range.

THE PACIFIC—After 4,743 miles of rapid, trouble-free driving, Brigadier Macfarlane and his co-driver dip the front wheels of their Chevrolet in the Pacific Ocean—to win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal.

THE AWARD—Winning of the Todd Medal, offered in 1912, became possible with completion of the Trans-Canada Highway. It is now awarded to Brig. R. A. Macfarlane for the first authenticated journey from Louisbourg, Cape Breton, to Victoria, B.C., over a specified all-Canadian route.
